

What Happened on 9/11?

11/09/06 www.mountainsentinel.com This should still be the preeminent question in everyone's mind. The 9/11 commission certainly didn't explain it. Setting aside the serious questions that they refused to address, their investigation brought up many more questions than they answered.

Anyone who takes a serious look at what is known about 9/11 knows that something is wrong with the official story. It is full of inconsistencies and implausible explanations. At the very least, 9/11 is a case of criminal neglect on the part of Bush administration and other top government and military officials.

Within the last couple month's a number of new sites have popped up on the internet, claiming to debunk the "9/11 myths". The trend on the websites is to engage in a lot of mud slinging with very little evidence to back up their claims. Instead of logically presenting their position, they offer only op ed pieces to rebut the questions and claims of the 9/11 movement. In the end, they resort to calling anyone who questions the official story of 9/11 as a conspiracy theorist and a nut in need of psychiatric help.

These disinformation sites and articles are popping up now because so many people have come to doubt the official story of 9/11. This is a tribute to the unceasing work of groups like Cooperative Research, The 9/11 Family Steering Committee, 9/11 Citizenswatch, and Scholars for 9/11 Truth. This last group, in particular, has come under strong attack in recent months. Please see their press release on this subject.

After everything I have reviewed about 9/11, what do I think? I believe that, at the very least, the US government allowed the attacks to happen. Please download the video below about George W. Bush's criminal negligence and incompetence. This video alone provides all the evidence we need for impeaching Bush. The fact is, Bush sat in a classroom while the trade towers were attacked. He made no effort to do anything. I cannot think of another US president who would have done that. The excuse is that they did not want to scare the kids. The country was under attack and they were afraid of scaring the kids. Come on! The guy is the president. He didn't have to tell them what was happening. All they had to do was announce that something important came up and he would must leave the class to deal with it. Anyway, kids all over the country were watching the disaster happen on television. Nobody was worried about scaring them.

But I believe it goes much deeper than this. Evidence strongly suggests that the supposed terrorists were allowed to train in the US and were indirectly helped by elements within the US government at every step of the way. The Florida flight school where Mohammed Atta and other 9/11 terrorists trained has its own ties to drug smuggling, illegal weapons trade, and the CIA. Following the 9/11 attacks, the FBI and Gov. Jeb Bush, moved in to confiscate and erase evidence about the terrorists connection to Venice, Florida.

And this is only the tip of the iceberg. Wherever you look in this story there are inconsistencies. Taken together, these inconsistencies strongly suggest that the events of 9/11 were guided by powerful elements within the US government. And it doesn't stop there.

The physical investigation of the trade tower collapses cannot be reconciled with the official story. Those building were built to withstand an airplane crash and the burn off of jet fuel. The steel frame of the buildings could not have been seriously weakened by the temperatures possible in a jet fuel fire. And the pancaking collapse of the buildings, at very near the speed of free fall, are extremely unlikely to have been accomplished by anything but controlled demolition. And then there is the collapse of tower 7, which is completely improbable, and which was not considered by the official 9/11 investigation.

If the towers were downed by a controlled demolition, that takes us beyond the realm of allowing the attack to happen to the realm of staging the entire attack. And there is much, much more; too much to go into in this little essay. So I will direct you toward the best resource sites available and ask you to take the time to inform your self. You own it to the innocent people who died on 9/11, to the thousands who have died since in George Bush's "War on Terror," and to our children. Please watch the videos on this website, and then follow the links listed here and inform yourself.

Videos

9/11 Revisited

911 Unanswered Questions

Bush's 9/11 Negligence

MadCow Morning News -- 9/11 Anniversary -- Interview with Atta's Taxi Driver

The Complete 9/11 Timeline

Managed by Paul Thompson, this is the source for learning what happened. It is a massive timeline. When I printed it out and read it back in 2002, it was a couple hundred pages long, and it has grown considerably since then. All entries are references and sourced. I also suggest that you purchase the new video available on the website. It is based on the timeline, and the Family Steering Committee.

http://www.cooperativeresearch.org/project.jsp?project=911_project

Sept. 11th: Unanswered Questions

To date, this is still one of the best inquiries I have found on 9/11. The author does not try to prove the government was involved. He (or she) proceeds with a systematic presentation of what was known at the time of the attacks, and draws logical deductions from this evidence. These deductions point to unnamed figures at the very top of the federal government and the military. This site amounts to about 140 pages of reading. Even though it has not been updated in a few years, it is still very worthwhile.

<http://www.communitycurrency.org/IndexMX.html>

9/11 Citizenswatch

This site holds a lot of valuable information. It is supported and guided by the 9/11 families advisory group.

<http://www.911citizenswatch.org/>

The Citizen's Commission on 9/11

The Citizen's Commission held their own investigation of 9/11. You can find videos and audios of the proceedings here.

<http://www.911busters.com/911-Commission.html>

The Scholars for 9/11 Truth

This group has done a lot to keep the questions surrounding 9/11 from being suppressed. Their scientific investigation of the world trade center collapses has done more to crack the official story than all the top books on the subject.

<http://www.scholarsfor911truth.org/>

Madcow Morning News

Investigative reporter Daniel Hopsicker spent a year in Venice, Florida tracking down every bit of information he could find about the terrorists and the flight schools they attended there. Caveat Lector. Hopsicker has since denounced the 9/11 truth movement and distanced himself from it. But his work in Venice, Florida is still extremely important.

<http://www.madcowprod.com/>